Summary

This Porsche 930 has been in the same family since 2005. We are the second owners. I purchased the car from my brother in 2013. Driven on weekends and for fun. This 930 has been well maintained. Interior is in perfect condition with original leather steering wheel and perfect dash. All gauges, warning lights and switches are in working order. Mostly original paint. Front bumper and hood were repainted for rock chips and the sunroof panel was repainted due to dealer scratching it when replacing the cables. There are some new minor rock chips on the bumper, a small chip on top of the rear bumper and a 1-inch scratch on the upper right front flare. Just had Kahler's Werkstatt in Dublin do a PPI. There are some minor oil leaks in the valve covers, cam box covers and cam housing to head. No oil drips under the car but there is the smell of oil after driving the car. This is considered common for a Porsche of this age and can be addressed when it's time to do other work. Selling to make room for another vehicle. PPI included for inspection along with maintenance paperwork, receipts from original owner as well as Certificate of Authenticity from Porsche."
