The interior was also completely revised. The Impala features a new wood trim center console with chrome accents on all major control buttons. The dashboard features a chrome Impala logo embedded in the wood grain trim which runs across the front of the vehicle and onto the doors. The new control knobs found throughout the vehicle's cockpit are similar to those found in the new Buick models as well as the Cadillac DTS, all of whom feature a similar center console. Another interior revision are the cupholders which are now concealed underneath the mid-section of the vehicle's center console.
