An absolute steal.

The silhouette still screams "Harley tour bike," but removing the Tour-pac and passenger backrest cleans up the top lines and loses the "old-man's bike" vibe of the full bagger models.

Bullet turn signals and a compact taillight keep the lines as smooth as one could expect from a full-fairing bike, and while the Rushmore-inspired, vented batwing front fairing is anything but inconspicuous, it's still sleeker than the old "barn-door" fairings back in the day.
