We are proud to offer you this 2012 Mercedes Benz C63 AMG Tuned with Upgrades for sale!

This 2012 C63 AMG is one of Mercedes' highest-power sedans they've produced to date. Blessed with a rampant 6.3-liter V8 engine that's been tuned to produce even more than the stock 451 horsepower and 443 lb-ft. of torque, this performance sedan is unquestionably one of the first truly exciting saloons to drive. A seven-speed transmission with paddle shifters and variable driving modes helps to put the power down, ensuring that this car isn't simply powerful; it's quick.

Best yet, this AMG has a rear-wheel drive, making it the ideal car for some tire-shredding fun. However, if stability and handling are a concern, this Benz has more than enough equipment to keep the car under control, including sport tuned front and rear suspension with independent coilovers and gas shock absorbers, front and rear stabilizer bars to keep the car level under strong cornering force, and an optional limited-slip differential for extreme cornering fun.

To us, what's outside the engine bay is just as important as what's inside it, and this absolutely wild AMG C63 is no exception to this rule. If 19" OZ Racing alloy wheels and sleek black paint finish aren't attention-getting enough, this Mercedes sedan is fitted with an AMG-tuned sport exhaust system with four tips and one of the most earth-shaking notes ever produced from the back of a car, which is only amplified by the aforementioned tune. Inside, the interior offers plenty of excitement and comfort to the occupants, thanks to its carbon fiber trim panels, AMG-printed leather bucket seats, and leather "AMG" sport steering wheel.
