What do you get when you mix classic muscle with modern technology? A 1984 Corvette, which is the perfect blend of muscle and technology to give you a true muscle car feel, with some much needed upgrades. This 1984 is the first year back after taking a year off of making the Corvette. This Vette has a couple cool things going for it, for one, it's a manual transmission. But it's not just any manual transmission this one is a 4-speed manual-hybrid automatic overdrive unit which gives you the ability to run through 4 gears like an old school 4-speed would, but then you have an electronic push button overdrive that you can engage in any gear resulting in more performance on the low end and better fuel economy when cruising at freeway speeds. A 5.7L cross-fire injection small block sits between the frame rails. The black on black is a great look for the C4. This Corvette could use a couple of minor cosmetic upgrades and it would be well suited to drive to shows, or just out for ice cream. Financing is available and trades are welcome so swing by today and see this thing in person.
