2018 Ford Mustang EcoBoost

A modern spin on a classic American muscle car: Ford nailed the balance between practical and fun, and then packed it into this 2D sport coupe. The bucket seats are a good fit, leaving everything fully within reach. Overall the interior is in excellent shape. The rear seat has two belts if needed, but they also lay down to offer a substantial addition to an already surprisingly large trunk space. Select between 5 driving modes which modify the performance in various ways, from a stiff aggressive Drag mode to a more forgiving anti-slip approach for inclement weather. You also have three options for handling: normal, sport & comfort.

Under the hood is Ford's turbocharged EcoBoost cranking out 310-HP and 320lb-ft of torque. When you couple the speed from the turbocharger with a short-throw shifter on a 6-speed manual, you'll be surprised at how quick this Mustang can get up & go. While you're at it, let the major savings from the fuel economy of this 4cyl remind you there is a reason the larger engines are becoming less popular over time. Before you write this EcoBoost off, I challenge you to take it for a spin. It will prove itself as a respectable competitor in the American muscle category.
