One of just 13 made, this 2007 RUF RT12 was delivered new to Texas and bears the all-important W09 VIN affixed to all factory RUF builds. While built upon on a 997 narrow-body chassis, the RT12s heart is a twin-turbocharged 3.8L Flat-6 based on the previous generation (996) 911 Turbos Mezger designed engine, but bored out and de-stroked to the tune of 650hp. In this example, power is sent to all four wheels through a six-speed manual transmission. It's exterior is finished in Carrara White, while the interior is black leather with color-matched Carrara White interior trim. Options fitted from the factory include the pictured Ultralight wheels, an integrated roll cage, and a hydraulic front suspension lift system. Showing just 31k miles, this is a rare opportunity to own a United States legal, factory RUF from the 997 generation with a manual transmission.
